Farmers Are Asked to Give Board of Trade Assistance In Preparing Their Case

That the Grande Prairie Board of Trade intends conducting a constructive case for the farmers of the district, who are complaining that wheat is being graded too low, was indicated in the very careful and comprehensive plan agreed to at a meeting held in the town hall last (Thursday) evening.

The following are the members of the committee appointed to gather material to be presented to the Grain Board at a public meeting to be held in Grande Prairie on the evening of October 31, K. C. Porteous, chairman of the agricultural committee, T. W. Lawlor, J. B. Oliver and Joe Lathliffe, the latter of Buffalo Lakes. The chairman, Mr. Porteous, was given power to act for the committee.

D. W. Patterson, president of the Grande Prairie Board of Trade, who was in the chair, will conduct the case and call upon the various farmers to give evidence that their contention is correct.

As this primarily is a matter of vital importance to farmers who are interested are asked to give the committee in charge of the case every assistance.

Mr. Harrison, assistant grain commissioner, will arrive on tomorrow's train.

T. W. Lawlor will assist Mr. Patterson in outlining the case. During the meeting considerable correspondence dealing with various matters was dealt with.

On motion of J. B. Porteous, chairman of the transportation committee, the following motion was adopted: That the provincial Department of Public Works be asked to put on one graveling outfit, and that they keep on graveling the worst spots on the Peace River Highway and the situation look out-of.

This resolution grew out of a letter addressed to the board by Hon. Hugh W. Allen, in which the Minister of Municipal Affairs stated that graveling had already commenced on this side of Clyde.

It was decided to accept the offer of John Lake secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade, of 100 books of cents issued by the Department of the Interior on the Peace River.

A letter was read from Mr. Fiebel who was here last summer looking over the old flour mill site, in which he stated that it would be impossible for him to visit here for a long time. The matter of the flour mill was left in the hands of the agricultural committee.

J. B. Thomson reported on the interview which a member of the board had with Mr. B. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, concerning the outward distributing rates for Grande Prairie and other matters.

Mr. Beatty expressed his belief that there was a possibility of securing a rate that would further pressure was brought to bear. After some discussion the matter was referred to the committee.

Mr. Beatty, secretary, P. J. Tooley, was instructed to write to Mr. Beatty, H. H. Hufferd, president of the Canadian National Railway and Mr. Callaghan, general manager of the Northern Alberta Railway, that that outward distributing rates for Grande Prairie be put into effect.

Following the business of the meeting, the chairman introduced W. Prevey, president of the Edmonton City Dairy and president of the Grande Prairie Creamery, to address the meeting.

Mr. Prevey, at the outset of his remarks said that he was a member of the Edmonton Board of Trade and brought greetings from that body.

He referred to the fact that his company operated a creamery here from 1910 to 1924, when they sold out to P. Burns.

Following a brief survey of the development of the Edmonton City Dairy, Mr. Prevey then discussed the pasteurization of milk, which is a live issue in Grande Prairie at present.

He explained very briefly that he was an advocate of pasteurized milk. It is a very important matter in Edmonton, there being no complaints so far as Grande Prairie was concerned.

Drought Area Family Thankful For Vegetables

How people in the drought areas appreciate vegetables sent to them by the Peace River is continued in the following letter:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Welsh: We are all so thankful for the vegetables and potatoes that we have received from your committee.

We found your name on a sack of carrots, and take the opportunity of thanking you and the donors at least. If you know of any others who contribute, you will kindly pass on the word.

It is such a relief to know we will be supplied with good vegetables for the winter. We have a lot of them and are very grateful for the vegetables in boxes of food.

We surely think of you all and all your work in raising them and drying them, and then to give them all away. We have gone to all trouble of trying to grow them each year, but it is now some six years since we had any.

My father, an old man of 88, lives with us. He is blind, but he prepares the vegetables and potatoes for us. He is very fond of them. He is very grateful for the vegetables in boxes of food.

Yours sincerely, Mrs. J. B. Thomson. P. S. - Did you come on Ontario day's father's name? I was told you did. We came from near Owen Sound.

WHEAT GRADING

There is discontent among the farmers over the low grades being given their wheat. This complaint is heard on all sides, and the question is right now before any serious action is taken.

If the complaint is justified, then the people should know that the issue is a real one, and not a mere slogan.

If, on the other hand, the present grading and standards are justified, then the people should know that too, so that elevator companies will not be placed in a bad light before the country.

The time to thresh out this question is right now, and the action of the Grande Prairie Board of Agriculture, in bringing the matter to the attention of the Chief Grain Inspector at Winnipeg, asking that Commissioner Harrison be sent to investigate the country immediately to investigate the complaint, is commendable.

If Mr. Harrison brings the power to act in the case, then he should name the department to which the matter is put of this kind, where there is so much money involved, there surely must be someone clothed with authority to settle the dispute.

If the growers' contention is correct, then what is being graded at least one grade too low, it means a loss of thousands of dollars to the farmers. There should be a law set up on the part of the Board of Trade and other organizations until a clear-cut decision is handed down.

SCHOOL ATHLETICS

The Tribune wishes to voice its appreciation of the idealism and sportsmanship of the athletes who took part in the meets as held at Grande Prairie last week. The credit for these creditable performances were witnessed.

This is the kind of competition which lends itself to good sportsmanship and the development of a healthy mind and body.

Under the rules, the contestants are taught discipline, something highly necessary to the development of the athlete. The Tribune has from time to time commented that boys and girls should be day are as to worse badly than young people of other generations and are that as amenable to discipline and discipline, if such is exercised properly.

A generation ago not enough attention to the development of the body was given in our schools. These days all that seemed necessary was to pass examinations and to be able to be done under insanitary conditions which prevented the proper circulation of air and sunlight and light. In a word a boy or girl was apparently supposed to be all head, and if that particular part of his or her anatomy was not all head, education had completed its task.

Now that day fortunately is over and considerable attention has been given the development of scholars' bodies.

One of the best assets to start out on life with is a healthy body. Any one who has been to the athletic meets will agree with this.

When democracy came to our shores, we arrived, every town and village will have a high school, and it is gratifying to know that there is an effort being put forth to make athletic events a part of the annual affair.

Those responsible for the idea are to be complimented.

THE DEPARTURE OF REV. E. W. JACKSON REGRETTED

The decision of Rev. E. W. Jackson, rector of Christ Church, Grande Prairie, for the past three years, to answer the call of his church to go to Ceylon, will be regretted by all, irrespective of creed or denomination.

Besides his many church duties, Mr. Jackson took an active part in the Musical Festival and Dramatic, the Boy Scout movement, school fairs, and other athletic events.

The human side of his nature made him friends wherever he went. From the start Mr. Jackson seemed to possess an understanding of the people of this country. He did not attempt to force his views, but rather to win them by his life and child the very best in health, happiness and success in faraway Ceylon.

WARNING

Warning is issued by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, head-quarters at Edmonton for farmers to be on their guard against the sale of produce and poultry, quoting from a circular recently sent out.

Usually exceptional prices and attractive inducements are offered, but the ultimate result is that the farmer receives practically nothing in return.

The circular warns the people to be on the watch for advertisements published by such persons, and to be located in the larger cities.

Farmers will do well to take notice of this timely warning.

Along the Trail

By J. B. YULE

LEMONS DO WELL HERE

While travelling along The Trail I noticed a lemon tree in the window of the Royal Canadian Hotel. It was a small tree, but it had three large lemons on it which were beginning to turn yellow.

I asked Frank Grutke a short while later if the fruit was for sale. He replied, "No, it is not for sale. It is a lemon tree which has been growing here for several years. The proprietors intend to cultivate when they 'cut the lemon'."

Another plant which claimed my notice was a Jerusalem plant, a sturdy tree growing in the harbor shop of Walter Medlock. On it were numerous cherries, which, I am sure, are not fit to eat, being only ornamental. It is understood that this plant is rare in these parts.

"THE IRON HORSE"

"It is the duty of the writer to meet all trains coming in and leaving Grande Prairie. This is necessary in the news-gathering business. Of course, 'the iron horse' (meaning people) are particularly sought. I once asked a porter if there were any 'mule' riders here, but he said there was even a trolley. But to the 'iron horse' it comes."

I have scarcely ever gone to any of the 'iron horse' races, but I have seen a colored man being seized by the feeling to jump around and he goes. When I knew that a colored man was being seized, I don't know where he goes, but I'm sure he goes.

Carlie is credited with saying that one great objection he had to the 'iron horse' was that it was so noisy. The noise of the engine was so loud that it was a nuisance to the people who were sitting in the car.

AN OLD COPY OF THE LONDON TIMES

The other day I had the pleasure of perusing a copy of The London Times which contained an official account of the death of Nelson.

This rare copy is in the possession of Mr. W. J. Jackson, who has it from his father several years ago.

Notwithstanding the importance of the event, which drew the attention of Napoleon from the sea, the whole of the paper was not devoted to it.

The copy is a small four-column paper, and it is a very interesting one to read. It is a very interesting one to read.

On October 21, 1805, and the result did not differ from the result of the battle, which contained the news of the battle, which contained the news of the battle.

In the dispatch to his government Vice-Admiral Collingwood says a high tribute to the splendid morale and the bravery of all the units engaged.

The dispatch says that the conflict began at 12 o'clock. The enemy's ships were seen at a distance of about five miles from the British fleet.

In telling of the death of Nelson, the dispatch reads: "His Lordship received a mortal wound in the breast, but he did not leave the deck until he had seen the British flag hoisted on the mizzenmast."

THE IRON HORSE

"It is the duty of the writer to meet all trains coming in and leaving Grande Prairie. This is necessary in the news-gathering business. Of course, 'the iron horse' (meaning people) are particularly sought. I once asked a porter if there were any 'mule' riders here, but he said there was even a trolley. But to the 'iron horse' it comes."

I have scarcely ever gone to any of the 'iron horse' races, but I have seen a colored man being seized by the feeling to jump around and he goes. When I knew that a colored man was being seized, I don't know where he goes, but I'm sure he goes.

Carlie is credited with saying that one great objection he had to the 'iron horse' was that it was so noisy. The noise of the engine was so loud that it was a nuisance to the people who were sitting in the car.

John Morley, the great British statesman and man of letters, once said that he would like to see the mountains being "beyond the mountains there is hope."

There should be a law set up on the part of the Board of Trade and other organizations until a clear-cut decision is handed down.

LEMONS DO WELL HERE

While travelling along The Trail I noticed a lemon tree in the window of the Royal Canadian Hotel. It was a small tree, but it had three large lemons on it which were beginning to turn yellow.

I asked Frank Grutke a short while later if the fruit was for sale. He replied, "No, it is not for sale. It is a lemon tree which has been growing here for several years. The proprietors intend to cultivate when they 'cut the lemon'."

Another plant which claimed my notice was a Jerusalem plant, a sturdy tree growing in the harbor shop of Walter Medlock. On it were numerous cherries, which, I am sure, are not fit to eat, being only ornamental. It is understood that this plant is rare in these parts.

SCENIC HEIGHTS

DANCE SOCIAL SUCCESS

SCENIC HEIGHTS, Oct. 22.—While the dance in aid of the skating rink last Friday evening could scarcely be said to be a success financially, there was nothing lacking in the social spirit. The small crowd that turned out seemed to enjoy themselves, in spite of the fact that it was pouring rain outside. The Friday evening program of dance music and social games was well received by the crowd. The local ladies are to be complimented on the splendid lunch that was provided.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. R. H. Keith went to Grande Prairie to bring Dorothy home for the week-end, and was also accompanied by Thelma Purdy of Grande Prairie. While home for the week-end Dorothy and her friend attended the dance at Scenic Heights, returning to Grande Prairie with Mrs. Keith and Thelma Purdy on Sunday evening.

Alberta Edgar was again home from Wembley to spend the week-end with her parents.

The regular services of the United Church will be held in the schoolhouse on Sunday next (October 28), at 11 a.m. Rev. Wm. Hutton will officiate.

Those who have finished threshing are breathing more easily now. We regret this turn of fall weather again before others have been able to get threshed. According to reports the yield has been good and those who have been fortunate enough to have finished threshing have in some cases been forced to pile some of the grain on the ground on account of insufficient bins or granaries.

Farewell Banquet Tendered Rev. and Mrs. Eric Jackson

"Mr. Jackson," said Miss Worthington, "no doubt will have some regrets, which I hope will be tempered by the happy memory of Ceylon when he is having his afternoon tea in that sunny climate."

Mr. C. H. Chappell of St. Paul's United Church, Grande Prairie, said that he felt that he was losing friends in the departure of the Jacksons.

Mr. Chappell then referred to the whole-hearted support Mr. Jackson had given the Ministerial Association. Not only had the rector of Christ Church made his mark in his own church but also on the religious life of the community, said Mr. Chappell. He added that Mr. Jackson was splendidly fitted for the co-operative work he was to do in Ceylon.

"There never was a time," said Mr. Chappell, "when there was such need of co-operation among the various religious bodies as now, and he looked for the time when there would be closer union."

The speaker expressed the hope that Mr. Jackson and the son of Mr. Jackson would be doing similar work at this time being done in Grande Prairie by Mr. Jackson and himself.

"Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and little daughter leave here with your prayers and mine," Mr. Chappell said in conclusion.

Mr. J. M. Sanger-Davies thanked Mr. Jackson for all he had done for the cutting districts.

Mr. E. V. Berrin of Clairmont, who was the next speaker, on behalf of the ladies, which will commence at 8 p.m., Thursday, November 1, at the home of Mr. Jackson. The Women's Musical Club will present a program.

The next meeting of the Grande Prairie Women's Institute, which will commence at 8 p.m., Thursday, November 1, at the home of Mr. Jackson. The Women's Musical Club will present a program.

Mr. Edwards then presented Mr. and Mrs. Jackson with a purse of gold, as a token of the esteem in which they were held and appreciation of the service they had rendered.

Mr. Jackson, who was noticeably moved, thanked the members of the church and friends for their presentation and for their best wishes.

He said that the two and one-half years spent in Grande Prairie were extremely happy ones, and also in-all who had helped him in his work he heartily thanked. He said it was impossible to name all those who had given him valuable assistance during his pastorate at Christ Church. He hoped that work would be undertaken in the east area, where, he said, it was much needed.

The co-operative work to which he was going, he said, was the most pleasant," said Mr. Jackson, who then observed that he looked forward to the time when the parish of Christ Church would be one of the most important in the diocese of Abkhazia.

"A happy home," said Mr. Jackson, "and myself will live on in the Grande Prairie will be the one of the place where our married life began and where our son was born. I know you will all be happy and happy. You have a great opportunity here," he added.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson said that in his successor, Rev. R. J. Pierce, the church had a splendid man who has been doing great work in his parish.

Mr. Jackson asked for the prayers of all present. He said that when he returned to the United Church of Canada to learn and he thanked all those who had assisted him.

Miss Madeline Thompson then played with great expression a piano solo.

In conclusion, Mr. Jackson said that he was leaving the church of his birth and he hoped Mr. Jackson would have "a happy home" in the Grande Prairie as we have of him."

Mr. Jackson and his wife and program many stayed to shake hands with Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and wish them "bon voyage."

Christ Church (Anglican), Grande Prairie, was crowded on Sunday evening to hear Rev. Eric W. Jackson in his last sermon before departing for Ceylon, India.

Taking for his text the first verse of the fourth chapter of Daniel and the ninth verse of the seventh chapter of Revelation, Mr. Jackson at the commencement of his sermon said that throughout his life he had realized there has been in progress the building up of two cities: the City of God and the City of Babylon. Babylon is built on selfishness and pride, and the City of God rests on the foundation of love and sacrifice. "We are engaged in helping to build one or other of these cities," Mr. Jackson added.

After stating that all nations have their contributions to the building of the City of God, the speaker said that his church goes through three stages: pioneer, growth, and then maturity.

During the pioneer stage, which was very difficult, the foundation was laid. During the growth period missionaries teach others to guide and direct their people. Then there was the mature stage.

Mr. Jackson then dealt upon the responsibility of the church at home. The young churches look to the older churches for example. They look to the record in the countries in which the church is working. "They look to you for example, and if you are willing to let self-interest interfere with your service to God, then you are hindering the building of the City of God."

By living a Christian life you will help to remove the stigma cast against Christian nations."

Another way that the speaker to help build the City of God was by prayer.

After referring to his transfer, Mr. Jackson pleaded for the prayers of his congregation for those who are called to the service of the church. He said that many of his friends tried to convince him that his duty was here, but he was convinced that his work lay overseas.

"We call him strong who stands unmoved,"

Calm as some tempest-battered rock. When some great trouble huris its power of him, 'His strength is proved; But when the spent storm folds its wings, How beauteous then his little things!"

THE CUP OF A THOUSAND VIRTUES

Three thousand years before Christ the Chinese called tea "the cup of a thousand virtues." They have a curious notion of a holy man who would never drink tea. In India, China, it has been a temple and made a vow that he would not eat, drink, or sleep for four days, but would devote all his time to thinking of the holy thing.

Month after month went by, but at last fell asleep. When he awoke, he found himself lying on his back, his hands clasped in prayer, his feet pointing towards the east. He immediately threw up his arms, and the first two trees to be grown.

There is a picture in the British Museum called "Earthly Paradise," showing the Chinese drinking tea in the 17th century. Other pictures, of varying dates, show the ceremony associated with tea drinking in the ages—bustling, ceremonious, now tea drinking is mainly an opportunity for gossip.

Tea drinking became fashionable as a result of the efforts of Catherine de Medici, who eventually, the coffee houses of London became tea houses. The first tea house in London was opened in 1654. It was called "The Swan." As it was very pretentious, tea was kept under lock and key in beautiful green glass bottles. The drinking of tea became a fine art.

Tea was first introduced by Major Bruce, in Assam, growing wild, and he thus became the pioneer of the tea industry in India. By 1800, the British Empire became the tea market of the world. Over 450,000 pounds of tea are sent to England every year.

Good tea leaves should be kept in a cool, dry place, in a container which will keep water out and keep the tea fresh.
